DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 2-33, 35-37, 39-44, and 47-49 are pending in this communication filed 02/09/05 entered as RCE and Amendment. Claims 2-7, 9, 10, 12-19, 21, 22, 24-30, 32, 33, 35-37, 39, 40, and 44 have been amended, claims 47-49 have been added, and claims 34, 38, 45, and 46 have been canceled.

Request For Continued Examination

2. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 02/09/05 has been entered.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 33 is objected to because of the following informalities: Claim 33 depends on canceled claim 1. For examination purposes, it is presumed claim 33 depends on claim 47. Appropriate correction is required.

Election/Restrictions

4. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
- I. Claims 47 and 2-32 are drawn to a method for aggregating information, receiving a specification of a class of items by a selected shopper, each enterprise offering items for exchange over a network, storing information about the items, responding to the specification of the class of items by the shopper, collecting information about a selected item, storing the collected information from the enterprises, and providing the information collected from the enterprises to a selected shopper, classified in class 705, subclass 26.

II. Claims 48 and 35-37 are drawn to a method for aggregating auction information from auction sites, providing a host site in communication with the auction sites, storing information about the items it offers in an auction database and interacting directly with bidders, receiving a specification of a class of items by a selected bidder, responding to the specification of the class of items by the bidder, searching the auction sites for items, collecting information about a selected item within the class from at least two of the auction sites, storing the information collected from the auction sites, and providing the stored information to a selected bidder, classified in class 705, subclass 37.

III. Claims 49 and 39-44 are drawn to a method for searching for products or services offered for purchase by auction sites, providing a host site in communication with the auction sites, each auction site auctioning products or services, storing information about the products or services it offers, receiving a request from a selected bidder, determining the selected bidder, searching the auction sites for selected products or services, collecting information about a first and a second selected product or service, and storing the collected information, classified in class 705, subclass 37.

Inventions I, II, and III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because Group I has separate utility such as aggregating information, receiving a specification of a class of items by a selected shopper, each enterprise offering items for exchange over a network, storing information about the items, responding to the specification of the class of items by the shopper, collecting information about a selected item, storing the collected information from the enterprises, and providing the information collected from the enterprises to a selected shopper. The subcombination Group II has separate utility such as aggregating auction information from auction sites, providing a host site in communication with the auction sites, storing information about the items it offers in an auction database and interacting directly with bidders, receiving a specification of a class of items by a selected bidder, responding to the specification of the class of items by the bidder, searching the auction sites for items, collecting information about a selected item within the class from at least two of the auction sites, storing the information collected from the auction sites, and providing the stored information to a selected bidder and the search for Group I is not required for Group II. Group III has separate utility such as searching for products or services offered for purchase by auction sites, providing a host site in communication with the auction sites, each auction site auctioning products or services, storing information about the products or services it offers, receiving a request from a selected bidder, determining the selected bidder, searching the auction sites for selected products or services, collecting information about a first and a second selected product or service, and storing the collected information and the search for Group I and Group II is not required for Group III.

Inventions Group I and Group II and Group III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention Group II has separate utility such as aggregating auction information from auction sites, providing a host site in communication with the auction sites, storing information about the items it offers in an auction database and interacting directly with bidders, receiving a specification of a class of items by a selected bidder, responding to the specification of the class of items by the bidder, searching the auction sites for items, collecting information about a selected item within the class from at least two of the auction sites, storing the information collected from the auction sites, and providing the stored information to a selected bidder. Group I has separate utility such aggregating information, receiving a specification of a class of items by a selected shopper, each enterprise offering items for exchange over a network, storing information about the items, responding to the specification of the class of items by the shopper, collecting information about a selected item, storing the collected information from the enterprises, and providing the information collected from the enterprises to a selected shopper. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Species:

The Applicants' are required to elect among the following species depending upon election of the one of the aforementioned Inventions:

If invention I is elected, one of the following species of the generic invention indicated in the bracket must be elected.

Claims 2-4, 6-9 and (10 or 11 and 12) and 13-15 and (17 and 18 and 19 or 20 and 21 or 22 or 23 and 24) and 25 and (26-28 or 29-33).

If invention II is elected, one of the following species of the generic invention indicated in the bracket must be elected.

Claims 35 and 36 and (37).

If invention III is elected, one of the following species of the generic invention indicated in the bracket must be elected.

Claims 39 and 40 and (41 and 42 or 43 and 44).

Applicants' are required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if not generic claim is held to be allowable. Currently claims 47, 48, and 49 are generic.

Applicants' are advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon allowance of a generic claim, Applicants' will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all of the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicants' must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP 809.02(a).

Should Applicants' traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, Applicants' should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

In the event Applicants' elect the aforementioned species, Applicants' are further required to provide where support in the descriptive portion of the specification may be found to support such an election.
